

DIVISION of GRADUATE STUDIES

14th Annual Graduate Research Symposium

McHenry Library

Information Commons South and Adjoining Classrooms

April 27, 2018

1:15 p.m. Kickoff

1:30–3:30 p.m. Judging

The UC Santa Cruz Graduate Research Symposium offers graduate students from every division the opportunity to discuss their research with colleagues on campus and with the public. Graduate students present their work in the following formats and venues:

- 8-minute-maximum talk with or without visual aids, which may be an overhead-projected slide presentation (e.g., Microsoft PowerPoint) in a library classroom bordering the 2nd-floor Information Commons South
- 4' x 4' poster in the open-forum showcase of the library's Information Commons South
- recorded media presentation in the open-forum showcase of the library's Information Commons South

The chancellor, vice provost and dean of the Division of Graduate Studies, and the five academic deans sponsor symposium awards decided by judges invited by the Division of Graduate Studies from among faculty, staff, postdoctoral scholars, alumni, trustees, and community members.

TO COMPETE AS A GRADUATE STUDENT, REGISTER HERE. THE REGISTRATION DEADLINE IS APRIL 20 BY 4:00 P.M. PST.

To attend the Graduate Research Symposium as a member of the campus, local community, or alumnus/a, register here.

If you're interested in judging at the symposium, please contact Sonya Newlyn at snewlyn@ucsc.edu.

The winners of the 13th annual symposium at McHenry Library on May 12, 2017, are listed here. Scenes from 2017's symposium are below.