Places: A Forum of Environmental Design is published three times a year by the Design History Foundation, a nonprofit, charitable organization that sponsors a range of educational, publishing and research activities. The Foundation's mission is to establish forums in which designers, public officials, scholars and citizens can discuss issues vital to environmental design, lwith particular emphasis on public spaces in the service of the shared ideals of society.

About the cover:

This view of Havana's central square, the parque Central, and its monument to José Martí looks east from in front of the hotel Inglaterra (across the hotel parking lot and the vintage vehicles there). Beyond the park rises the clubhouse of one of the Spanish regional societies, the palacio del Centro Asturiano, erected in 1927.
