

UCLA

Mester

Title

[Contributors]

Permalink

<https://escholarship.org/uc/item/2z2607jc>

Journal

Mester, 20(1)

Author

Mester, [No author]

Publication Date

1991

DOI

10.5070/M3201014138

Copyright Information

Copyright 1991 by the author(s). All rights reserved unless otherwise indicated. Contact the author(s) for any necessary permissions. Learn more at <https://escholarship.org/terms>

Contributors

ROSA BELTRÁN is a doctoral student in the Comparative Literature Program at UCLA, where she also received her M.A. Her major areas of study are contemporary literatures in English and Spanish. Her publications include articles in Mester, Diálogos, Revista de la UNAM and La Jornada Semanal, and she is the author of La espera, a book of short stories. Currently she is preparing for publication a study entitled The Redefinition of the Americas: Utopic, Dystopic and Apocalyptic Visions.

JULIO CARRERAS, a writer and Professor of Plastic Arts, studied piano and musical composition at the Conservatorio Rossini De Paula, and Plastic Arts at the Academia Nacional de Bellas Artes Juan Yaparí, in Argentina. He is the author of a volume of poetry, Obstinación por vivir, and of several novels and collections of short stories. Editor-in-chief of Quipu de cultura, he is also a contributor to the Argentinian publications Puro Cuento, Clepsidra, and La Voz (Córdoba), and the Italian Berenice.

JACQUELINE CRUZ is a doctoral candidate in Contemporary Spanish Literature at UCLA, where she also received her M.A. in Latin American Studies. Her most recent article, "Una investigación en torno a la memoria: El tragaluz, de Antonio Buero Vallejo", appeared in Mester, vol. 19.1. She is currently working on her dissertation, entitled Emeterio Gutiérrez Albelo y el surrealismo en Canarias.

CLAUDIA FERMAN, who obtained her B.A. from the Universidad Nacional de Buenos Aires, is a doctoral student at Arizona State University, specializing in Latin American Culture. She has published: "México en la Posmodernidad: Textualización de la cultura popular urbana" and "Literaturización y desliteraturización: Textos de la Posmodernidad en la Argentina" (forthcoming), and is currently completing her dissertation, Cultural Changes in Latin America: Postmodernity in Argentina and Mexico.

JACINTO R. FOMBONA IRIBARREN is a doctoral student at Yale University specializing in Twentieth Century Latin American Literature. He received his Licenciatura from the Universidad Simón Bolívar in Caracas and his M.A. in Statistics from Yale. Currently he is completing his dissertation on Latin American travelers and their narratives.

JUAN GUERRERO is a professor at the Universidad Nacional Experimental de Guayana. A graduate of the Universidad Central de Venezuela, he has also studied at the Universidad Italiana para Extranjeros in Perugia. His work has appeared in numerous journals, including Papel Literario, Correo del Caroni and Manxa.

LUISA RUIZ MORENO is a professor at the Universidad Autónoma de Puebla, where she also received her Master's degree. A specialist in Semiotics and Religious Sciences, she received her Licenciatura from the Universidad Nacional de Córdoba, Argentina, and is completing doctoral work through the University of Paris. Her articles include "El discurso mariano, espacio sincrético en Latinoamérica" (Morphe 2) and "Para una posible lectura de un texto colonial" (Dispositio XIV), and she is currently preparing for publication a book on the religious iconography in the Church of Tonantzintla (Mexico).

MARGARET L. SNOOK, a Professor of Latin American Literature at Bridgewater State College, received her Ph.D. from the University of Illinois. Her most recent publications include: "The Power Struggle: Gender and Voice in 'Moscas y arañas' by Bioy Casares" and "The Motif of Voyage as Mythical Symbol in El amor en los tiempos del cólera by García Márquez". She is currently completing a book entitled In Search of Self: Gender and Identity in Bioy Casares' Fantastic Fiction.

GERARDO TORRES RIVERA is a Lecturer at the City College of the City University of New York, specializing in Curriculum and Teaching. He obtained his M.A. at the Teachers' College, Columbia University, and his B.A. at the Catholic University of Puerto Rico. His most recent article is "The Education of Bilingual Teachers", in Bilingual Education: Focusschrift, and he is currently preparing a novel and a collection of poems, some of which have been published in Intercambio en St. Marks.

LILIANA VALENZUELA received her M.A. and B.A. in Anthropology and Folklore at the University of Texas, Austin. She has published poetry in The American Review and fiction in New Chicano Writing. She was awarded the first prize for a short story and an honorable mention for a collection of poetry in the Fifteenth and Thirteenth Chicano Literary Contests of the University of California, Irvine, respectively.

SALVADOR VELAZCO, who is currently completing his graduate studies at the University of Michigan, received his M.A. from UCLA and his Licenciatura at the Universidad de Guadalajara, Mexico. A specialist in Colonial Semiosis, his most recent publications include "La otra muerte de Martín Fierro" (Mester 19.1) and "La imagen de Hernán Cortés en el túmulo imperial" (forthcoming).