Introduction: Western States Budget Reports

This special issue on the Western States Budget Reports is produced in collaboration with The Center for Public Policy & Administration (CPPA) at The University of Utah. Drawing on the expertise of political scientists in 13 western states, the reports summarize each state's budget process development in preparation for the next fiscal year. The reports are presented each year at a roundtable discussion during the Western Political Science Association's annual conference. Initiated in 1997, the reports are intended to be of use to individual researchers, government officials, and anyone interested in contemporary public budgeting in a practical setting. The California Journal of Politics and Policy began publishing the reports in 2011, and reports dating back to 1997 are available online at the CPPA website at cppa.utah.edu/western-states-budgets/index.php.
