Preface

The first five articles of this issue were presented as the Plenary Session at the Great Basin Anthropological Conference held in 1990. The papers were submitted to the Journal as a package, with an introduction by Bob Kelly. Each was reviewed, revised, and accepted for publication following our standard process.

Although it is not our usual practice to devote issues to single topics, the papers herein constitute a significant contribution to the study of Great Basin Anthropology and identify important directions for future research. The Journal is pleased to present them in this format.
