Healthcare Panel

Saturday, March 23, 2013, 11:30 A.M. - 1:00 P.M.

Moderator:

- Shawn Kravich \(Cancer Legal Resource Center\)

The Affordable Care Act offers a new and complementary approach to the civil rights framework of the Rehabilitation Act and the ADA for improving access to health care for people with disabilities. This panel brings together academics, policymakers and advocates to examine the challenges faced by people with disabilities in navigating transitions between social spaces, and in receiving equal and adequate health care. Panelists will discuss the ACA as an opportunity to include disability in the legal and policy discourse about health care access and quality for all, including people with disabilities, and make recommendations for improvement and future action.
