Performance Note

<General>

- Dotted thin arrow above the staff means gradually changing techniques from one to another.
- Dotted thin vertical arrow in senza misura section means the approximate cue for cellist.
- Dotted barline indicates the beat for counting beats.
- Meters with '+' mean their grouping of beats.
- Small note in the parenthesis over the triplet means its duration.
- Trilling and tremolo notes are written in parenthesis.
- In the double stops, if the trill and tremolo signs are above notes, it means the top note is doing trill or tremolo. (Same applies signs below notes)
- Some of the natural harmonics are not in the node. It is meant to be sounded as empty noise.

<Abbreviation>

H.H. = Half harmonics

F.H. = Full harmonics (Natural harmonics)

ord. = ordinario pitch. Play normal pitches. It cancels these : sul pont. / molto sul pont. / sul tasto / H.H. / F.H.

<Notation>

 Staccatissimo

Full harmonics : This is fingering pitches. Some of the notes don't sound clear pitches. Occasionally those pitches generate airy, noisy sound with overtones.

Half harmonics : Finger pressure in between the normal fingerings and harmonics. It creates ponticello quality. Pitches are identical with the fingerings but overtones with metallic timbre will result at the same time (or only the overtones occasionally)

Program Note

When I was writing this piece, I was really interested in the pattern that I found out in quarrel. Between lovers or any type of two people, argument or quarrel started with very small topics. When quarreling gets intense, people started yelling each other and started to become absurd. They brought many different topics from the past that are not even related to the topic of quarrel. The more they argue, the more they started not listening to each other. Most of the time, one of the person leaves the conversation because he or she found out that it doesn't make any sense to continue conversation.

This piece doesn't contain specific contents of conversation. Instead, it is more focused on the format or pattern of quarreling.
