Places, a Forum of Environmental Design, is published three times a year by the Design History Foundation, a nonprofit, charitable organization that sponsors a range of educational, publishing and research activities. The Foundation's mission is to establish forums in which designers, public officials, scholars and citizens can discuss issues vital to environmental design, with particular emphasis on public spaces in the service of the shared ideals of society.

Submission Information

Places encourages submissions from its readers. Please submit five copies of each manuscript, along with illustrations, to our Berkeley editorial office. Color transparencies, black-and-white prints, and line drawings are acceptable for initial review. Copies of our current Call for Submissions and editorial guidelines are available from our editorial offices upon request.

All articles published in Places, except for Forum essays and Dispatches, have been reviewed by at least four people, including consulting and contributing editors and other scholars and/or professionals with specific background and expertise in the subject matter. All final editorial decisions are made by the editor.
